Public Health Emergency Dispensing Exercise

Have you ever seen the news about a new health outbreak and wondered what would happen in Colorado?

Did you know that this is something that many health and emergency agencies plan, train, and practice?

Would you like to learn more and support the improvement of your local public health emergency preparedness?

You're invited!

June 17, 2017 there will be a statewide full-scale exercise to test response activities during a public health emergency in Colorado. Help your community practice their procedures AND learn more about what you, your family, or your organization would do during a public health emergency.

- Receive your emergency preparedness gift and register for a home preparedness 72-hour kit.
- Touch-A-Truck: Kids of all ages can see Flight-For-Life Colorado's helicopter and other emergency vehicles up close.
